How a Poor Girl Captured a Millionaire.

There is a very pretty romance about the marriage of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, jr., to Miss Alva Smith, the story of which is often told in upperdom.

While at school Miss Smith suddenly received word that her father had made an unlucky venture, that his fortune had gone up in a balloon, and that she and her sister must, at the end of the term, then near its close, go at once to the home of their grandmother, in Virginia, there to remain until their father could summon them North again.

This was not suited at all to the tastes of a demoiselle conscious of her own attractions,
and she determined to make a venture
on her own account. She borrowed some money from her teacher, and made an arrangement with her to go to Richfield Springs for a few weeks, so that when she appeared there, she had as a dummie, a well-known instnctress, and this piqued
the curiosity of the young men about the resort.

There was a coterie of New York girls
there, a Miss T—, daughter of a broker, Miss O—, daughter of a rich brewer, and several others, who knew of the misfortune of the Smiths, and who also tried to make it appear that the young Miss Smith no longer deserved a place in the ranks of the nouveau riche as her father had "gone up."

Wm. H. Vanderbilt, jr., came to the Springs to attend a ball, and the New York
girls were all in a flutter, because each one desired to capture the son of the Millionaire. Miss Smith took in the situation at a glance, but she had nothing to wear, and she had only forty dollars in her purse.

She proposed to Miss T—, to buy a dress, and Miss T—, having a big stock of dresses, and but a small amount of pin money, was ready to oblige her. She wasn't however, inclined to part with anything that would be becoming to Miss Smith, and accordingly she selected a yellow silk with a wine spot in front, and offered to sell that for Miss Smith's $40, being assured that Miss Smith being more of a blonde than a brunette, would look "horrid" in yellow. But Miss Smith paid the price, and the fair dealer in second-hand clothing chuckled over the bargain
she made.

Her pleasure was changed to chagrin,
that evening, when Miss Smith appeared upon the ball-room floor, a queen of beauty and that yellow, too. Instead of putting white upon her she had made her complexion brown, and having borrowed a lace mantilla from her teacher, and a big black fan, she came out the picture of a bewitching senorita. Her coy glances shot into the Vanderbilt heart.

She tossed the soft ends of the mantilla
over her shoulder as she strolled the piazza, and used that fan most bewitchingly. The New York girls stood aghast, and Miss T—, shed a tear over the loss of her yellow silk, and felt that she had been cheated,
for she never thought that the dress looked so well.

The result was that Vanderbilt fell desperately in love, pressed his suit, became all the more ardent because of the lady's studied hesitancy, and was the happiest young millionaire anywhere, when he gained a kiss, and the privilege of putting on the finger of senorita a diamond engagement ring.

Mrs. Vanderbilt at once visited Richfield Spring, was charmed with her prospective daughter-in-law, and invited her to go and spend the summer with her. The smart young girl, however, pleaded that she had a dear sweet grandmamma in Virginia, to whom she owed a duty visit, and she must go there first.

Thither she went and taking account of stock, improved her wardrobe, as a smart girl with a little money only can, and then she accepted the invitation of her prospective mother-in-law. She confided to her the story of the bitterness of the fashionable New York girls, who were so anxious to get her expected husband, and the result was that the mother had her pride touched, and she at once cut the T's and O's, much to the consternation of the families aforesaid.

Well, all went well. The millionaire married the pretty girl of the yellow silk and the black lace mantilla, and they are now living happily upon the avenue.

Henry Clay to Col. James Taylor.

Frankfort Yeoman.

One of the most interesting contributions to the Historical Society is a scrap book of autograph letters and other manuscripts, presented by Mrs. Thomas L.
Jones. Among the curiosities is the following letter from Mr. Clay to Gen. James Taylor, by which it will be seen that the old system of electioneering for office was in vogue then as now. Mr. Clay was then twenty-three years of age. We have not examined the journals to find out whether or not he was elected Secretary of the Senate, but it may be comforting to the late sucessful candidates for that place to know that six years later Mr. Clay was elected to the United States Senate. The letter is a beautiful specimen of chirography, being in a large and rounder hand than characterized Mr. Clay's handwriting later, but still marked by the same peciuliar neatness and finish. It is the only autograph of Mr. Clay's in which his full name is signed, his usual signature being
H. Clay:

LEXINGTON, 26th May, 1800.

DEAR SIR—B. Thurston, Esq., declining to offer at the next session of the Assembly for clership of the Senate, I have determined to become a candidate for that office. Not having the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with Mr. Sandford, the Senator of your county, I take the liberty, upon the score of my acquaintance with you, to request that you will make make me known to him.

I am, dear sir, your most obediently,
HENRY CLAY.

JAMES TAYLOR, Esq.
Newport, Campbell county, Ky.

In July last, George Sands, a well to do farmer living near Milan, Ohio, took home $300, and, handing it to his wife, requested her to take care of it. She, with the thoughtfulness of the average housewife, considered that the straw bed-tick would be about as safe a hiding place as she could find for the wealth. Accordingly
she placed the roll of bills among the straw.
The money not being needed for any purpose, it was forgotten, until several weeks after the house had been cleaned, when Mr. Sands inquired of his wife if she had that money. The thought came to her at once that she had emptied that straw bed in the orchard, and, of course, the roll of bills had been dumped out too. A visit to the orchard showed that the swine and poultry had been very industrious there,
and ten and twenty-dollar bills were found scattered by the winds and torn by the aforesaid farm stock. Careful search brought back about $230, leaving $70 as the price of the carelessness. Mr. Sands does not put his money in strawticks any more.

MISS SOPHRONBY WADDLESWORTH,
aged 35, was reading the fashion notes,
and when she struck the paragraph,
"Babies are fashionable this season,"
she fainted dead away and remained unconscious fifteen minutes. It was all the fault of the intelligent compositor.
The item should have read: "Rubies are fashionable this season." Something of a difference, you will observe,
tho'gh both are dear little things.

A WOMAN who carried around milk in Paris said a naive thing the other day.
One of the cooks to whom she brought milk looked into the can and remarked, with surprise: "Why, there is actually nothing there but water!" The woman, having satisfied herself of the truth of the statement, said: "Well, if I didn't forget to put in the milk!"

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., MARCH 2, 1882.

KENTUCKY coal is now sold at Lexington for 13 and 14 cents a bushel.

AMONG the importation of foreign products, for sale in our city, we notice Irish potatoes from Scotland, and beans and sour kraut from Germany.

THE bill to repeal the tax for the support of the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Lexington, came up in the House of Representatives on the 28th ult., and was laid on the table by a vote of 51 yeas to 36 nays. This vote is final so far the House is concerned, as the motion to lay on the table cannot be debated, and if it could, it is claimed there is a majority for the college in the full House. The tax must therefore stand unless the matter is taken unto the courts, as it probably will. The tax is unjust and against the spirit of the Constitution and the courts, it is believed, will not sustain the illegal exaction.

THE convention of the so-called reform and independent Union-Democratic party met at Masonic Hall, Louisville, on the 28th ult., with a small attendance, considering the drumming up that has been done. R. T. Jacob was indorsed as a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and a set of resolutions were adopted, designed to be a tempting bait to gudgeons. The object and purpose of the new movement is expressed in the opening of the resolutions, in the declaration that the machinery of the present Democratic party in the State has been seized by the Bourbons, and that the Union soldier and civilian have been wholly ignored in the distribution of offices. This is all there is in the new movement to reform the Democratic party in Kentucky. There are not enough disappointed office seekers in the state to make the movement very formidable.

REFERRING to the nomination of Mr. Conkling as a Justice of the Supreme Court, the Brooklyn Eagle says: "Roscoe Conkling would not make a great judge. The temper of his mind is not the judicial temper. His prejudices are mighty and he generally invests them with the dignity of convictions. An Arkansas lawyer who was elevated to the bench accepted the honor upon condition that he should not be required to take his seat until after the expiration of at least three months. When asked why he desired this privilege he answered, in order that he might have time to overcome his disposition to get mad and swear. Mr. Conkling is too dignified to manifest passion and too pious to be profane, but he has cultivated antipathies so long and so assiduously that his mind is as full of bristling points as a field of Canada thistles, and the task of growing the fine wheat of judicial impartiality in such a soil would be almost a hopeless one."

The City Council of Lexington refuses to grant street railways the right of way over the streets of that city.

Cairo people are working like beavers to save their levees. If a break should occur the town would be flooded.

The district convention of Latter-day Saints, at Dennisport, Mass., have passed resolutions against Mormonism.

Richmond, Ky., shipped 20,000 pounds of wool to Boston, and 10,000 pounds of harness leather to Chicago last Thursday.

The Gazette says it is a certain fact that there is no small-pox in Lexington, and there has not been for three weeks.

R. B. Hutchcraft, of Lexington, purchased, a few days since, 145,000 pounds of wool, at twenty-six cents per pound.

It is said in Ashland, instead of doubt as to the guilt of Craft and Neal, the belief that they are guilty is growing stronger.

David King, the ex-Sheriff who was so brutally beaten in a Ft. Wayne, Ind., saloon, is dead.

The large flouring mill of Wright & Bodenhamer, of Filmore, Ind., was destroyed by fire.

The public schools of Boston observed Longfellow's seventy-fifth birthday in an appropriate manner.

There has been but little damage by overflows along the Mississippi for one hundred miles above Memphis.

Alfred Batten, of Columbus, O., was sentenced to twenty-one years' imprisonment for the murder of Douglass Hester.

A can of nitro-glycerine, while being taken from a wagon, near Bolivia, N. Y., exploded and two men were killed.

A boy named Deputy was seriously injured at Seymour, Ind., by falling from a tree and alighting on a picket fence.

The trial of Albert G. Hoge for the murder of Charles Martin in August last, began at Bellefontaine, O., yesterday.

One freight train ran through another at a crossing near Syraense, N. Y., the wreck taking fire and being partially destroyed.

The seventh annual session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Honor, began yesterday in Indianapolis with a large attendance.

United States Marshal August Ash, of Virginia, Nev., committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart. Financial troubles and drink.

At Milwaukee, Mrs. E. C. Swift committed suicide by drowning herself in a cistern in the back yard. She is believed to have been insane.

The Iowa outlaws, Poker Wells and Bill Norris, were both literally riddled with bullets while attempting to escape from sheriffs Chandler and Wilson.

Mrs. Scoville has written a letter in opposition to the confirmation of Conkling, attaching more blame to him in the murder of Garfield than to her brother.

By a misplaced switch, the Cincinnati Express ran into a sidetracked freight near Chicago, causing a great smashup. The engineer on the Cincinnati train was fatally hurt, and a tramp, stealing a ride on the freight, was fatally crushed. Others were more or less hurt.

Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters.

Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram-shop whisky beverage, but are strictly medicinal in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity.

For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, serofluous humors and sores, tetter, ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence, and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as I ever did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest blessings.

Mrs. M. MARTIN, Cleveland, O. Sold by George T. Wood at $1 per bottle.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last—No One Need Suffer!

A sure cure for blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William, (an Indian remedy,) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of twenty-five or thirty years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothiing medicine. Lotions instruments and electurles do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense Itching, (particularly at night after getting warm in bed,) nets as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for piles, Itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment: I have used scores of pile cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave me such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment.

For sale by George T. Wood or mailed on receipt of price, $1.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., MARCH 2, 1882.

LAST night, before our very eyes,
We're called upon to tell,
A chap, from down the river, came
And stole another Belle,
And, now, the boys are rippling mad,
And we have heard it said,
They'd give their very souls, almost,
To punch that Judy's head.

THERE are ninety-three stores in Fleming county.

C. G. CAINES has disappeared from the Vanceburg jail.

THE wheat crop of Lewis county is looking unusually well.

RICHARD W. WELLS has been appointed postmaster at Helena.

SLICED ham and beef on sale at G. W. Geisel's Equity Grocery. f162wd

MR. JAMES RICE is painting and otherwise improving his house on Second street.

A. C. BALL has removed from Sardis, to Millersburg. Sardis loses a good citizen.

THE total receipts at the Good Templar's supper, from all sources amounted to $100. The ring awarded last night to the most popular lady present was won by Miss Hattie Naden.

MR. SAM S. RILEY of the First National Bank, informs us that he has been offered and has refused twenty-five cents a pound for his crop of tobacco. It is not a very large crop but an unusually fine one. A nail keg will probably hold it.

MR. W. R. DARNALL, of the Mt. Carmel neighborhood, will cultivate thirty acres of tobacco this season. He expects to plant the seed directly in the hills and dispense entirely with the use of plant beds. The experiment will be watched with interest.

THE editor of the West Chester, (Pa.) Jeffersonian, a valued exchange of twenty years standing, has written the following kind words of the DAILY BULLETIN:

You have every reason to be proud of your little paper. It is one of the cleverest and spickest little journals I have seen to emanate south of Mason and Dixie's line. You have reason for hope with attending success.

MRS. MARY E. THOMAS, of the well-known millinery establishment of Thomas & O'Brien, leaves for New York City Monday. She takes this means of informing the ladies that she will bring on the largest and cheapest assortment ever brought to Maysville. The firm has engaged one of the finest trimmers in Cincinnati. Please give them a call before buying elsewhere.

THE Cincinnati Times-Star of the 1st inst., says:

Among the guests at the Gibson House this morning were Mr. Samuel M. Hall and bride, nee Miss Sallie Nesbitt. The happy couple, who proceed to-night to New Orleans on their wedding tour, were joined in Hymen's bonds last night at the residence of Judge J. M. Nesbitt, at Owingsville, Ky. The bride is an accomplished lady and a noted Kentucky belle, who has won for a husband one of nature's noblemen. Mr. Hall is an extensive plow manufacturer at Maysville, Ky., where the newly married pair will take up their place of residence, on returning from the sunny South.

Sales of Land.

The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court since our last report:

Jane Stevens and others to Lewis Stevens, dower in 33 1/2 acres of land on Blue Run; consideration, $100.

Eliza A. Doyle and others to Sue E. Williams lot in Chester; consideration, $150.

John C. Jefferson to Wm. Gifford 51 1/4 acres of land on Sardis turnpike; consideration $5,150.

The Mammoth Southern Minstrels.

The opera house, Thursday evening the 9th inst., will be used for an entertainment by McIntyre, Heath & Bellmont's Mammoth Southern Minstrels, an organization of twenty-two artists with full orchestra and brass band. The company present a most attractive programme, which will include the specialties of eight song and dance artists, eight clog dancers, and well known and popular comedians. The street parade by the whole company will take place at noon. The Memphis Appeal says:

The largest audience that ever assembled at Elgin Hall within our recollection was that which greeted the appearance of McIntyre & Heath's Minstrels Monday night. It appeared as if the whole town had turned out. The entertainment was the best in the minstrel line that has ever visited this city. The California Quartette rendered some pleasing selections in fine style, and the end men sang new and interesting songs, and the "Full Moon Order" showed up well. Roselle, in his female impersonations, is a good card, and makes his changes rapidly. McIntyre & Heath are tip top in their plantation song and dance business. In short, the troupe is better than the average that travels over the country.

Baird-Judy.

Miss Belle Baird, for a number of years a competent and faithful teacher in district school number 3, was married yesterday evening, at her home in East Maysville, to Mr. Joseph Judy, of Covington. The bride is an especial favorite with all who know her, and their good wishes attend her in her new home. Among the handsome bridal presents received was a beautiful clock, the gift of the pupils of her school, who are and always will be her attached friends. The groom is a member of a well-known family, at Mt. Sterling, but is now engaged in business at Covington, where the newly married couple will live in future. They left for their new home last night.

RECEIVER'S Sale

Pursuant to a judgment rendered at the late January term of the Mason Circuit Court, in the consolidated suit of Brooks, Winter & Co., against Jennings, Winter & Co., I will on Thursday, March 23, '82, on the premises just below Dover, Mason county, Ky., sell at public auction the

Undivided Half Interest

of A. D. Jennings in the warehouse property purchased by Jennings & Winter & Co. H. H. Henshaw, wife, it being the North half of the lot of ground situated on the southwest corner of Market and Front or Water streets in said town of Dover, and known and described in the plat of said town as lot No. 9, said half of said lot being fifty-four feet square. Said sale will be made upon a credit of six months and the purchaser will be required to give bond for the purchase price bearing interest, from date, with approved personal security, having the force and effect of a judgment. Sale to begin at 1 o'clock p.m. DANIEL PERINNE, Receiver, &c.

PUBLIC SALE.

As executor of James P. Wilson, deceased, I will offer at public auction, his late desirable home situated in the town of Minerva, Mason county, Ky., on Saturday, March 11.

This consists of a large two-story frame house and about five acres of No. 1 ground. On this is a good barn, good well of water, two good cisterns and a splendid orchard. This is a very desirable property to any one desiring to live in a quiet and retired place, while its close proximity to the town makes it easily accessible. There are in Minerva two good schools and several churches, and in fact every advantage that could be desired in a thriving country town. Any one wishing to examine property can call upon R. L. Wilson, Minerva, Ky. Terms made known on day of sale. Sale to commence at 11 o'clock a.m. Possession given immediately. For further particulars call upon or address the undersigned at Maysville, Ky. Who are the Bourbons?

As used in the North, this word "Bourbon" designates a class of white men composed chiefly of the leading citizens of the Southern States. The Bourbons are the principle business men, lawyers, physicians, teachers, clergymen, merchants and farmers of the South. They are everywhere the leaders of society in the best sense of the word. They sustain the churches, and give such efficiency to the moral activities and discipline of the loyal communities as they have thus far attained. Taken broadly or generally, the class includes the best people of the South, or most of them. They are Bourbons because in politics they are Democrats and act in opposition to the principles, policy or methods of the Republican party, which has administered the national Government since the time of our civil war.

In the Southern States the term Bourbon has no distinct significance. It is applied indiscriminately, by all classes of politicians, to anybody who differs with them. It is there a convenient though empty epithet or name of reproach. Every politician insists that his party is the party of progress, of improvement, the representative and embodiment of the only ideas by which society can exist or civilization be maintained; and he is, of course, entitled to stigmatize his opponents as Bourbons. The word is a sham or burlesque weapon in the South, and is used there by everybody in political wrangling for "all it is worth."

As to the Southern men who compose the class to which this name is unusually applied in the North, I am compelled to say that, aside from political matters, they are much like other people, or like the best people in our Northern communities. They do not love what is wrong for its own sake, prefer falsehood, baseness, cruelty or injustice to the virtues and good qualities which are elsewhere revered by good men. They are amiable, truthful, conscientious, kind, public spirited and religious, resembling very closely the foremost men in our New England towns in all the important elements of personal character; differing only, in general, in being more communicative and having less reserve than is usual among New Englanders. As to their political action, it seems to me to have been for some years largely inevitable; the necessary product and result of the peculiar conditions of life and society in the South since the civil war. It does not appear to have been owing to sheer depravity on their part, nor to any choice or agency of theirs, that there was for some years a disturbed and unsettled state of things in the Southern States. Collisions between different classes followed unavoidably upon the elevation of the emancipated slaves into political superiority over the disfranchised white citizens of the country.

There has never been any such completeness of organization among the people of the South since the war, as many persons believe to have existed there. That part of our country is distinguished by much greater feebleness of community and a less organic life than belongs to Northern society; and the Bourbons are not responsible for anything that has been done south of Mason and Dixon's line. I shall have more to say on southern politics. Here I wish only to place the so-called Bourbon type as plainly as possible before my readers. The men thus designated are, as a class, eminently social, hospitable, honest and upright men. They have, in a large measure, built up and maintained such moral, social, industrial and religious organization and activity as the South now possesses; and much of what is best and most encouraging in the present state of things in the principal Southern States is due to them and to their efforts for their practical recognition in a time of extreme difficulty and uncertainty, when their resources were so discouragingly slender, and when they had no precedents to guide them except such as were furnished by the experience of mankind in the long contest between civilization and barbarism in the past. I think they have made mistakes and have done wrong things since the war. I am not certain that we or anybody else would have done better than they.—February Atlantic.

BATCHELDER'S Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

THE CHEAPEST AND
THE BEST
THE ONLY PRACTICAL
CASE.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence it is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, juddering, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long to storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x11, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete, 65 Cents.

Farmer's No. 1, 18 doz. Case with Fillers complete, 55 Cents.

Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.

15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.

Batchelder's Egg Tester, testing 6 doz. at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.

The 18 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out mailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,
